FROM WASHINGTON.

Collector at San Francisco—Anti-Administration Members Absent without Pairing—A Political "Dodge," &c.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Friday, April 18.

The nomination of MILTON S. LATHAM as Collector at San Francisco was unanimously confirmed to-day.

The statement is erroneous that the Government has dispatches from Minister WORTHAM denying the defeat of Col. KORLSHEUSH.

Numerous Anti-Administration members of the House are absent without pairing, and there is great danger, in consequence of this culpable carelessness, that CONE's resolution adjourning Congress before the Kansas report can be discussed may be carried on Monday.

It is stated that, in anticipation of his own defeat at Cincinnati, President PIERCE proposes to concentrate his force upon HUNTER, and that in order to strengthen the ticket in the North and West, propositions have been made to DONAN, of Wisconsin, to run for Vice-President. "DODGE" generally votes in the Senate with the Anti-Slavery Extensionists.

Senator Gwin for Vice-President—Indian Treaty Ratified.

WASHINGTON, Friday, April 18.

A letter from California states that the delegates from that State to the Cincinnati Convention have instructions to urge the nomination of Ex-Senator GWIN for Vice-President, on the ticket with Mr. BUCHANAN for President.

The Senate to-day ratified the treaty with the Stockbridge Indians.

The Anticipated Duel—The Right of Discovery—Ocean Mail Service—Dr. Kane's Book, &c.

Special Correspondence of the N. Y. Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 16, 1856.

THE ANTICIPATED DUEL.

I telegraphed you to-night that Col. LANE, of Kansas, was about to challenge Senator DOUGLAS, in consequence of his ungenerous and indecent assault upon the Colonel in the debate of Monday last. It is due to the Colonel to say that his efforts to obtain vindication on the floor of the Senate have absolutely failed. The men who,—for political purposes, and to excuse themselves for a predetermined act of injustice in the Pro-Slavery interest,—denounced Col. LANE as an infamous creature unworthy the slightest consideration at the hands of gentlemen, also refused to receive the evidence he offered in self-defence. Mr. DOUGLAS participated in this act of injustice, and thus repeated and added to his original wrong. He boastfully recognizes the code of honor, and so Col. LANE, having failed elsewhere, resorts to that for redress. It is difficult to see how the Senator from Illinois can get out of the scrape, except by a fight or a humiliating retraction. Col. LANE is evidently and deliberately prepared to carry out his determination in the premises.

AN ERROR OF CALCULATION.

It is probable that DOUGLAS, in his assault upon Col. LANE, presumed upon the strong rumor that the latter was "barked down" during last Congress, by Hon. Mr. HUNT of La. This is an error. The Colonel's failure to challenge Mr. HUNT was the consequence of the earnest advice of his friends to the effect that the challenge ought to come in that case from the latter, and not from him. Col. L. has on too many occasions signalized his physical courage, to be successfully accused of cowardice; but the falsehood had been so often repeated that Mr. DOUGLAS doubtless believed it. I should not feel myself justified in now making reference to the anticipated conflict, had not the statement of the fact been overheard under circumstances which satisfy me that it will find publicity in other quarters, where it is likely to be distorted to the disadvantage of Col. LANE. I suppose the only reason why the challenge has not already proceeded is the difficulty of finding a suitable person to bear it—so that there can be no frivolous objection made to its acceptance. In conclusion, on this topic, let me say that I don't believe there will be any fight, although I am equally satisfied that LANE is ready for it.

THE RIGHT OF DISCOVERY.

Mr. SEWARD did a wise thing to-day in introducing his joint resolution in relation to the discovery of guano islands. His proposition is, that all inhabited guano islands outside the marine jurisdiction of any nation, which may be discovered by any citizen of the United States, shall become part of the Territory of the Union, whose jurisdiction shall be asserted and maintained over it; but that the right of property in the deposits of guano or other natural products shall be vested in the discoverer, if citizens of the United States, and not engaged in the public service. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations, and is so eminently just and proper that opposition to it is not to be anticipated. Its purpose is self-evident, and its enactment will not only protect the "American Guano Company," in their possessory rights in the guano island recently obtained by them from the American discoverer, but encourage our merchant seamen to efforts for future discoveries, which may be of great value to the United States.

OCEAN STEAM MAIL SERVICE.

The bill in relation to Ocean steam mail service reported yesterday, is not a bill for the benefit of Messrs. VANDERBILT & LIVINGSTON, of New-York, as stated. On the contrary the Senate Committee reporting it expressly designed to avoid extending any special favors to those parties. The bill is a general one in its terms, and authorizes contracts to be made with any and everybody for the carriage of foreign mails by steamships.

DR. KANE AND HIS BOOK.

The House did a graceful thing to-day in passing the Joint Resolution for the purchase of 15,000 copies of Dr. E. K. KANE's forthcoming work on the Arctic region. It is supposed that the profits on this order will accrue to the gallant Doctor; and it is a happy coincidence if he can thus receive substantial token of the esteem in which his country holds him, at the same time that the public libraries of the United States are enriched by the narrative of his interesting journey and valuable researches. The resolution also provides for suitable commemorative medals to be bestowed upon the members of the Expedition.

THE ILLICIT RECRUITMENTS.

My information does not confirm the anticipation that the British Government is about to address a dispatch to ours, calculated to allay the irritation growing out of the illicit recruitments. On the contrary, an early steamer will probably bring a long dispatch conducting the argument of the facts and law involved, without any expression of willingness or intention on the part of England, to accede to our demands for redress. If this anticipation is realized, we may expect a crisis at once, for it is not to be supposed that Mr. MASON will consent to reopen the case for argument, and if he will not do this, what is there for the United States but to immediately dismiss Mr. CRAMPTON and the offending consuls? The long delay which CLARENDON has imposed, and Mr. MASON has permitted, in this affair, has greatly revived the spirits of Mr. CRAMPTON, who hopes now to keep the case open by discussion until a new Administration comes into power in the United States. Will these hopes be realized? For the sake of justice and law, and the good name of this nation, let us hope not.

UNIFORM POSTAGE.

On motion of Mr. SEWARD, a resolution was adopted directing the Committee on Post-Offices to inquire into the expediency of establishing uniformity of postage throughout the United States.

AMENDING THE PATENT LAWS.

On motion of Mr. SUMNER a resolution was adopted instructing the Committee on Patents to consider the expediency of amending the Patent Laws so far as to allow the inhabitants of neighboring British Provinces to enjoy the benefits of these laws on an equal footing in all respects with the people of the United States.

THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The bill to authorize the Executive to facilitate the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the Mississippi River to the Pacific was considered.

Mr. WELLER maintained that the Government has the constitutional power to construct military and other roads through the territories of the United States. Congress frequently makes appropriations of lands for such purposes. Three hundred and forty thousand dollars he said had been expended to procure reports and surveys which shows that there are three or four practical railroad routes to the Pacific. He had no preference for either; his main desire was to obtain the construction of a road from which branches would emanate as the necessities of commerce demanded.

The Committee having the subject in charge proposes that the Secretary of War, Secretary of the Interior, and Postmaster General, shall advertise for bids, with authority, under direction of the President, to select the one most favorable. According to his calculation, the money invested in such a work would yield thirteen per cent. per annum. Estimating the number of passengers back and forth at 50,000 yearly, the decrease of time in travel will amount to a saving of more than $11,000,000 per annum. He exhibited the great mineral wealth of California, and the extensiveness of the Pacific coast, arguing the existing necessity for such a road for purposes of commerce as well as the protection and maintenance of the Union.

Mr. SEWARD obtained the floor, and the further consideration of the bill was postponed to the 29th inst. Sixteen private bills passed. Adjourned till Monday.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Friday, April 18.

VISIT TO THE STEAMER MERRIMAC.

Mr. HAVEN submitted two letters, addressed by the Secretary of the Navy to Mr. BENSON, Chairman of the Committee in Naval Affairs, in which he invites Members of Congress to visit the war steamer Merrimac at Annapolis, saying that the President and himself expect to leave Washington for that city this afternoon, and will wait the arrival there of to-morrow morning's train before going to the steamer.

Mr. WASHBURN (Ill.) moved that when the House adjourn it be till Monday. Adopted.

Awful Catastrophe—Dr. Ripley Frozen on the Prairie.

Correspondence of the St. Paul Daily Times.

GRENOCH, Saturday, March 29, 1856.

Our little village has just been thrown into intense excitement and the heart of many a hardy pioneer made sad by the intelligence of the death of Dr. RIPLEY, and also the awful condition in which his traveling companion was found. On the 20th day of February, the Doctor left here for Red Cedar Lake, (a distance of about 50 miles,) having a young man named MCCLELLAND with him. They went out to cut timber for a house at Cedar Lake, and it seems on the 1st day of March they started for Minneha or Forresville, or the North Fork of Crow River for supplies, and missing their course they seem to have gone too far east and could not find the place; and after three days fruitless search, without food or fire, (their matches having got wet,) they tried to return to their cabin. After having slept in a snow drift and enduring, as they must have done, all the rigors of that stormy weather during the first days of March, and when within seven miles of camp, the Doctor gave out and requested MCCLELLAND to try and get to camp, and, if possible, return to his succor. At the time they parted the Doctor was badly frozen. His knees, one foot and lips were frozen, and he frequently would lie down in the snow. The young man said he parted never to meet again on earth. MCCLELLAND succeeded in reaching camp after dark the third day, having cut off one boot, and for a number of miles had traveled with one foot bare. Now with him commenced a period of suffering almost without a parallel. For seventeen days he laid in the cabin, both feet so badly frozen he could not walk a step, and during all that time lived on about one pint of rice and one pound of cheese—unable to make fires or walk on kinsalt. The cabin, having no door to protect him from the attacks of the wolves, which were howling around in large numbers. At the end of that time he was found by Mr. CHAPMAN, of this place, and his surveying party, who were on their route to complete a survey on Crow River, and in the language of Mr. C., the condition of the unfortunate man beggared description.

HON. LANE AND SENATOR DOUGLAS.

Card from Gen. Lane.

As my constituents are without a representative in either branch of Congress, I avail myself of this method of correcting some of the misrepresentations which are being circulated to the prejudice of their cause. Senator DOUGLAS is represented in the Daily Globe of the 17th April, as having stated in the Senate on Monday, the 14th inst., as follows:

"Mr. DOUGLAS—As I great this is the last time that the question of gentlemen of these reports will be presented, I have another point to which I wish to call the attention of Senators. The seat of the next Congressman entitled to the honorable Senator from Michigan, and yet fail to present to the Senate, the Constitution of this proscribed State of Kansas. I have kept my eye on the history of this Constitution, and I know that there was it; and it is well known to the country that there was a clause adopted by a separate vote of the people, and made a part of that Constitution, making it a duty of the Legislature never to permit negroes (free or slave) to enter the State of Kansas—a provision similar to the one in the Constitutions of Illinois and Indiana and some other States which have been so severely condemned and denounced by those who have become the special champions of Kansas. Look into the Constitution as they furnish it, and as the Senator from Michigan has presented it here, and you will find that clause is suppressed—that important, material provision is not to be found in the document which they bring here. I know, from the history of the transaction, that it was voted in by a majority of the persons who voted for the adoption of the Kansas Constitution. Am I mistaken? I ask, was it not adopted at the same election at which the Constitution of the pretended State of Kansas was adopted, as a part of the Constitution?"

"Mr. DOUGLAS—I will state my evidence. In the first place, I have talked with Governor REEDER, and he told me so. In the next place, I have talked with Governor WHITFIELD, and he told me so. In the next place, I spoke to Colonel LANE on the subject the other night as my house, and he told me so."

To establish before the country the truth of the statement, my name is paraded as a witness to give it currency.

Since my arrival in this city, I have witnessed the humble petition of my constituents, praying for that which was to give them security to person and property, secuted from the enjoyment of human liberty. I, their legal representative, have heard in their behalf, and I hold myself charged with the crime of forgery and perjury in connection with a memorial revised and presented in strict conformity with the authority vested in me, for no other cause than resistance to the efforts of the people of Missouri to enslave the people of Kansas, and now, as a finale, a charge is preferred against the members of the Constitutional Convention of Kansas, which, if true, proves them unworthy the respect of honorable men, and it is sought to use me, the representative of that people, and the President of that Convention, as an indorser of the charge. I most emphatically deny ever having given to Senator DOUGLAS, or to any other person, even a shadow of authority for making any such statement. The only conversation had with that Senator since my arrival in this city, was in presence of Judge HYDE of the Supreme Bench of Kansas, now in Ohio, and to him, for decision, I submit this question of veracity, with confidence in the result.

It is impossible for my tongue to remain silent without being false to my constituents and to the cause of truth. I will not believe that the Constitution of the United States or the rules of the Senate require such a sacrifice from an American citizen. It will be remembered that I have been regularly elected to a seat in the same body, of which the Senator from Illinois is a member, by a constituency as intelligent as that which he represents; my election and the indorsement of my acts by my constituents being much more recent than those of that Senator.

In defence of the Delegates to the Constitutional Convention and the people of Kansas, and in vindication of the truth of history, I do brand the charge, as expressed in the extract above quoted, as infame, without a shadow of foundation, and will demonstrate it.

The proceedings and journal of the Conventions, to which I refer, and the proclamations, I pledge myself to produce and publish at an early day; they are now in Kansas, and I have sent for them.

At the Convention held at Big Spring, at which Gov. REEDER was nominated as a delegate to Congress, the friends and the opponents of the "Slack Law" first made their views manifest. Before the "Committee on Platform" a lengthy and heated debate arose. One portion of the Committee, composed of Judge COLLINS, (afterwards butchered by our Pro-Slavery protectors,) Dr. STILL, W. Y. ROBERTS and myself, insisting upon inserting a "Black Law" provision in the platform. Another portion, Judge CONWAY and others, opposing it.

The discussion was prolonged for seven hours. At a time when a separation without agreement seemed inevitable, a compromise was proposed by Judge COLLINS and Dr. STILL, expressing an opinion in favor of exclusion of free blacks, but not insisting upon it as a test of political orthodoxy in the Free-State Party. The compromise was adopted by the Committee and concurred in by the Convention by acclamation—they receiving it with nine hearty cheers. The question continued to agitate the public mind, and was discussed before the people throughout the Territory—the "Black law" advocates insisting upon inserting the provision in the Constitution; its opponents, respectable as to ability and character, insisting that no action should be taken upon it—the opponents of the Free-State Party prophesying that this question would prevent our ever uniting.

To secure that solidarity which has characterized to an eminent degree the Free-State Party of Kansas, which I trust will ever be maintained, at the Convention held at Lawrence to nominate candidates for delegates to the Topeka Convention to frame the Constitution, I submitted the following resolution in substance:

"Resolved, That the delegates this day nominated be and they are hereby instructed to use their utmost exertions to prevent the "Black Law" clause being inserted in the Constitution, but that the question may be withdrawn from Territorial politics, they will use their influence to have that question submitted to the people as a separate proposition—their decision to act as instructions upon the first Legislature."

The resolution was unanimously adopted, and all the delegates there nominated were elected, myself among the number, upon the compromise expressed in the resolution.

At the Constitutional Convention I brought forward the same resolution, as instruction to the Convention, of the compromise which had been made in the First District, and submitted the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the Committee on Miscellaneous Matters be instructed to report to this Convention a plan for submitting to the people the question of excluding free blacks, their decision to operate as instructions to the first Legislature."

The first resolution was received and ordered to be spread upon the journals, and the second was unanimously adopted. In obedience thereto, the said Committee, by Dr. CRUMBS, their Chairman, reported, in substance, as follows: That the Chairman of the Executive Committee be instructed to issue his proclamation inviting the people, upon the day the Constitution is submitted to them, to express their opinion for or against the exclusion of free blacks from the State, as follows: Those in favor casting a ballot upon which is written or printed "exclusion," those against, "no exclusion"—the said vote to act as instruction to the first Legislature—which report was adopted. After the adjournment of the Convention, as Chairman of the Executive Committee, I drafted, published and circulated the Proclamation. My recollection now is, that three distinct propositions were submitted: first, the Constitution, second, the Free Banking Law sections submitted as an independent proposition; if adopted, to become a part of the Constitution itself. In the second, the Black Law question was submitted as a separate proposition to act merely as instructions to members of the first Legislature having in no wise any connection with, or relation to, the Constitution.

As a member of the "Black Law" portion of the Free-State Party, I aided in making the compromise referred to, the whole object of which was to keep it out of the Constitution—within the reach of the people—so that when a majority should be in favor of repealing or adopting it, they could do so without amending the Constitution or conflicting therewith.

The Constitution presented to the Senate by Gen. CASS, to which the Senator from Illinois refers in the annexed extract, (if the copy forwarded for that purpose, which I have no doubt it is,) is a correct copy of that instrument, as framed by the Convention and ratified by the people; it is not true, but a fabrication manufactured from whole cloth, that any portion of it has been suppressed.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 17, 1856.

South America.

Correspondence of the Philadelphia Bulletin.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Tuesday, Feb. 26, 1856.

A whale ship is in the outer roadstead, bound to New-Bedford, via Pernambuco, by which I send this letter, apprising you of the health and tranquillity of the city and province, and the whole Empire. I regret to state that the accounts from our Southern neighbors are anything but satisfactory; dissolution and revolution are the present characteristics of those of Southern climes, but hope that ere many years the progress of commerce, agriculture and arts, coupled with the stability of a well-established government, which we enjoy here, may be imitated and cherished by those whom we heartily desire to grow, prosper and become happy.

FOR KANSAS.—A party, among whom will be M. S. GRANT, G. W. WHITNEY, A. CHAMPION of Ontario, and ELISHA D. SMITHER of Walworth, Wayne Co., will start from this city May 1. The whole company will comprise some thirty persons, it is stated.—Rochester Democrat.

SPANISH AFFAIRS.

[illegible]

The Kansas Movement—Appeal of the Missourians for Aid.

The Missouri "Kansas Association" has issued the following appeal to the people of the Southern States. We copy it from the Charleston (S. C.) Mercury, which commends it earnestly to the attention of the slaveholding public:

OFFICE LAFAYETTE KANSAS EMIGRATION SOCIETY,
LAFAYETTE COUNTY, (Mo.) March 28, 1856.

To the People of the Southern States:

On the undersigned, managers of the "Lafayette Emigration Society," has devolved the important duty of calling the attention of the people of the Slaveholding States to the absolute necessity of immediate action on their part in relation to the settlement of Kansas Territory. The crisis is at hand. Prompt and decisive measures must be adopted, or farewell to Southern rights and independence.

The western counties of Missouri have for the last two years been heavily taxed, both in money and time, in fighting the battles of the South. Lafayette County alone has expended more than $150,000 in money, and at much or more in time. Up to this time the border counties of Missouri have upheld and maintained the rights and interests of the South in this struggle unassisted, and not unsuccessfully. But the Abolitionists, staking their all upon the Kansas issue, and hesitating at no means, fair or foul, are moving heaven and earth to render that beautiful Territory a "Free State."

Missouri, we feel confident, has done her duty, and will still be found ready and willing to do all she can, fairly and honorably, for the maintenance of the integrity of the South. But the time has come when she can no longer stand up, single-handed, the lone champion of the South, against the myrmidons of the entire North. It requires no great foresight to perceive that if the "higher law" men succeed in this crusade, it will be but the commencement of a war upon the institutions of the South, which will continue until Slavery shall cease to exist in any of the States, or the Union is dissolved.

How, then, shall these impending evils be avoided? The answer is obvious. Settle the Territory with emigrants from the South. The population of the Territory at this time is about equal, as many Pro-Slavery settlers as Abolitionists; but the fanatics have emissaries in all the Free States engaged in collecting money and enlisting men. Is it in the nature of Southern men to submit without resistance? We do not believe it. If, then, the South is influenced by a spirit of self-respect and independence, let societies be formed to assist emigrants. Those who cannot emigrate, can contribute money to assist those who can. We have such societies in Missouri, and we can induce more people to emigrate than we are able to support. If the whole South would adopt this system, we would succeed. Kansas would be a slave State, and the Slavery agitation would cease.

The great struggle will come off at the next election, in October, 1856, and unless the South can, at that time, maintain her ground, all will be lost. We repeat it, the crisis has arrived. The time has come for action—bold, determined action. Words will no longer do any good; we must have men in Kansas, and that by tens of thousands. A few will not answer. If we should need ten thousand and lack one of that number, all will count nothing. Let all, then, who can come, do so at once. Those who cannot come must give their money to help others to come. There are hundreds of thousands of broad acres of rich land, worth from $5 to $20 per acre, and open to settlement and preemption at $1 25 per acre. Shall we allow these rich lands and this beautiful country to be overrun by our Abolition enemies? We tell you now, and tell you frankly, that unless you come quickly, and come by thousands, we are gone. The elections once lost are lost forever.

No-Popery Excitement—Carrying the Host—Orange Resistance—Inflammatory Placards—Rifles—The Political Aspect—The Cabinet Breaking up—The Maine Law Again Burked—Testimonial to Sir W. E. Logan, &c., &c.

Correspondence of the New-York Daily Times.

TORONTO, C. W., Monday, April 7, 1856.

The city is in a state of considerable excitement, on account of a Roman Catholic religious procession, which it was intended should have come off to-day, St. Patrick's Day occurring during the season of Lent, the ecclesiastical authorities ordered the faithful not to "walk," as has been usual for a number of years back, on the ground that fasting at such a period was more appropriate than rejoicing. But to compensate for the disappointment of the Emeralders, in not being permitted to drag themselves through the mud for a live-long day in honor of St. Patrick, it was announced that there would be a grand procession to-day, accompanied by the "carrying of the Host" through the public streets, for the first time in Toronto. The Orangemen, of course, were indignant, and determined to prevent it, and the walls yesterday were covered with inflammatory placards, calling upon Protestants to put down the proposed demonstration, by force of arms, if need should so require. One of these ran in this style: "Bloody murder! Idolatry versus Protestantism! The Roman Catholics, not content with committing a brutal, atrocious and bloody murder, have got the murderers acquitted by means of a packed Jury and an unjust Judge, and are now to flaunt their abominations in our face. So put your trust in God, my boys, and keep your powder dry! Widows' sighs and orphans' tears! God save the Queen, and frustrate their knavish tricks!" The reference in the above is to the murder of CORRIGAN, last Fall, by a body of Roman Catholics, and the escape of the guilty parties out of the hands of justice. A second placard is headed "Protestants arouse," and calls upon them to put down the intended "idolatrous" demonstration of carrying the Host. A third professes to proceed from the Roman Catholics themselves, and is to this effect: "Grand Religious Procession! A grave and grand religious procession of the Bishops, Nuns and Priests of our Church will take place on Monday, the 7th April. Protestants of all creeds are expected to take part in the proceedings, in MILITARY DISPLAY, as a Guard of Honor. Protestants will be in attendance, with their arms, at the St. Lawrence Hall, at 9 o'clock, to join the procession! God save the Queen!" Somewhat alarmed at the aspect of affairs, Bishop CHARBONNEL intimated at the close of the morning pastoral, that the original plan of procession would be given up, and that only the children attending the Schools of the Christian Brothers would walk, remarking that surely no attack would be made upon them by the Orangemen. This, however, did not satisfy the Orangemen, as they had an inkling of allowing the streets to be paraded by the long-robed gentry, who would of course accompany the lambs of the flock. This morning a body of their brethren from Hamilton arrived in town to take part in the row, and it is stated that two wagon-loads of rifles are conveyed to the St. Lawrence Hall, to be ready for any emergency. The Catholic might have been the result, if the procession came on, for the Orangemen, after the procession had passed, would have thought the opportunity too good to pass by, and usually kept his gold and silver in his pocket in a shot bag which he always carries about his person. There were found in his vest pocket on Sat. which had stacked the group of the murderers. All possible efforts have been made to discover the perpetrators, but no clue has as yet been found.

Conflagration in Nashville—The Court-House Burnt—Loss Estimated at $300,000.

We take the following account of the late destructive fire in Nashville from the Correspondence of the Louisville Journal:

About 4 o'clock this morning, the fire bell rang out right merrily, the sudden alarm upon the great sleeping city. During the day it had been warm and about sunset a light shower of rain fell, and the wind changed to the north and was blowing fitfully at times, and sweeping the whole city in its densest part, in its full length.

The flames bursted out of the rear of the kitchen of the Nashville Inn, and in five seconds after the alarm was given, and the doors thrown open, the flames and smoke were driven through the building, thus preventing the firemen from approaching the seat of danger. The inmates had barely time to save themselves in their night clothes.

Gov. JOHNSON, who had rooms there, lost $1,300 in bank bills, which he had deposited under his pillow. The whole front was in a blaze.

R. S. HOLLINS, who occupied the adjoining house, had just fitted up, after having been burnt out on College-street, in a moment saw his entire roof in one solid blaze.

The old Court-House caught in the dome, but our noble firemen never once turned a single hose upon it, so intent were they in the endeavor to save more valuable property. The fire, after extending eastwardly to Evans' marble front, by great exertions was arrested in that direction, but suddenly turned down the square as far as MORGAN & Co., taking in its arms H. & R. DOUGLAS & Co. SCOVIL's drug stores, STOCKLEN & ELLIS, and GARDNER, SHEPHERD & Co. The wind howled mournfully, the red flames high in the air, the hoarse cry of fire! fire! rang fearfully through the city in every direction, while the heavens seemed to rain down flakes of fire. The heart quailed, and at one moment the city was given up as lost. The whole square was one dense multitude, who swayed under the alarm and excitement as if each pulse swelled from the same heart. It was terrific! it was sublime!

I have not time to give the many incidents and personal adventures. Poor GARDNER! as kind a landlord as lives, his family lost even their clothes, and were driven from their beds with only their night clothes. Public sympathy beats warmly for him. The losses are set down for the present at $300,000. Nashville Inn, owned by Ellison & Evans, total loss; insured in Nashville Commercial for $5,000, and Home, New-York, $5,000; valued at $20,000. Carter's (proprietor) loss: furniture, $2,200; fixtures, $1,500; total, $10,000; insured in Northern Office, Nashville, $5,000. Evans & Co.'s loss by water on goods, $1,000; building, $500; stock in Philadelphia and Cincinnati. R. S. Hollins & Co.'s loss—had just bought $5,000—insured in Firemen's Company, $3,500. W. R. Elliston, owner of Gardner, Shepard & Co.'s, $12,000; insured in Commercial, Nashville, $4,000. Strickler, Ellis & Co.'s loss $5,000; insured in Protection, Nashville, $5,000. Firemen's $3,000, Commercial $5,000—total, $12,000. Saved most of the stock, but demaged. Gardner, Shepherd & Co. lost their whole stock of hats and goods, and part of their shoes, valued at $15,000; insured in Firemen's, Commercial, and Marine, $5,000. Scovil, druggist, loses two buildings, and all the stock of drugs except the first floor, valued at about $25,000. H. & R. Douglass—goods, $165,000; saved $20,000; stock insured in various offices to a large amount; buildings $175,000—not known how much insured, but supposed to be largely. Court-house insured for $18,000 in Tennessee Marine; loss $30,000. Valuable papers of the Chancery Court Clerk lost, valued at $150,000.

Yours, BURKE.

Personal.

The Richmond (Va.) Examiner is out for BUCHANAN as the Democratic candidate for President.

Hon JOHN P. KENNEDY is on a visit to South Carolina for the benefit of his health, which is somewhat impaired. He intends soon to embark for Europe.

The article on "Slavery in Russia," in the last number of the North American Review, is said to have been written by Mrs. ROBINSON, (Talvj,) of this City.

It is reported that Mrs. STOWE, the author of Uncle Tom's Cabin, will soon put to press a work illustrating the alleged degradation of the poor white population of the South.

It is said that M. DE SARTIGES, French Ambassador at Washington, is to be transferred to Turin, and will be succeeded by Viscount SUBSERBIE, son of the former French Minister to America, and nephew of the celebrated Marshal of that name.

The London Athenæum mentions a rumor that Mr. MACAULAY is engaged upon a rejoinder to his critics, particularly the Times, the Athenæum, and Mr. HEPWORTH DIXON, who is also reported to be writing a further answer to Mr. MACAULAY's charges against PENN. The Athenæum says:

"PENN, DRYDEN, and MARLBOROUGH, are the chief men whose reputations have been assailed by the historian; and his judgment on the personages stands in highest need of explanation and defence. Mr. DIXON, we understand, replies upon the entire case as against PENN—Mr. MACAULAY's accusations standing in the last edition as they did in the first. We shall be glad to see what Mr. MACAULAY can urge in defence of the Taunton charge; of his assertion that MARLBOROUGH's letter caused the failure at Brest; that DRYDEN changed his religion for money; that JEFFREYS was buried in the Tower, and SOMERS in Westminster; the two latter, blunders which the Times presses against. Literary controversy is always pleasant; and when conducted with courtesy, and with an earnest desire for the truth, as this controversy most assuredly will be, it is serviceable to history, as well as pleasant to readers."

A London Correspondent of the Manchester Advertiser states that CARLYLE will publish at Christmas his life of FREDERICK the Great in four volumes. He adds the following gossip about DICKENS:

"There is some gossip afloat, too, about a new work by CHARLES DICKENS, who, as you will have seen, has returned from Paris, and has been more than usually active of late at literary and dramatic public meetings. The origin of the talked-of work is an attack made upon the eminent novelist by Count MONTALEMBERT, the celebrated French writer and politician, who, in a recent publication, with more zeal than knowledge, accused Mr. DICKENS of having excited the poor against the rich in his social fictions; in fact, of being an English EUGENE SUE. DICKENS, it is said, intends to publish a reply to the Count, which will appear simultaneously in French and English, in Paris and London."

From the Newburyport Herald.

RATHER GOOD.—Few persons say more good things than Mr. CHOATE. Our readers recollect he gave a lecture in Boston a few weeks ago, upon the last days of SAMUEL ROGERS, for whom he expressed a good deal of admiration, and whose "Table Talk" has been recently published. Mr. CHOATE's great personal attachment to Mr. WEBSTER, and admiration of him, are also well known. It is said he was recently asked how he thought the conversational powers of Mr. ROGERS would compare with those of Mr. WEBSTER. He replied, "As a fiddle to two hundred organs."

LONG ISLAND.

☞ The Second Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn, New-York, vacant by the death of Dr. SPRAGUE, have given a call to Rev. WILLIS LORD, D. D., late of the Seventh Church, Cincinnati, Ohio, and formerly of Philadelphia, to become their Pastor.

☞ Brooklyn Aldermen are earnestly invited not to let the Gas Company drive them out of their intention to overhaul their "advance deposit" swindle. Please to get their authority for the exaction, make them pay interest on the deposit, or abate the nuisance.

Convict Convention.

On the evening of the 12th of March, a meeting was convened in a public hall of London, by Mr. HORACE MAYHEW, an author of some celebrity in his line, composed entirely of convicts, who were at large on a ticket-of-leave, having by good conduct in prison, obtained a conditional discharge from prison, to see whether they would use their liberty without abusing it. At Mr. MAYHEW's request, policemen were ordered to keep their distance. About fifty convicts were in attendance, and several of them made effective addresses. Perfect order and propriety attended the proceedings. The Times has a leading article on the subject.

News from Brazil.

The following is an extract of a letter to EDWARD WALTER, Esq., Secretary of the Board of Underwriters:

PERNAMBUCO, Saturday, March 15, 1856.

The bark Smithfield was condemned by a survey of English captains, and sold at public auction for $3,700. She was purchased by the consignee, Wm. Lenny, Jr., son of the late Consul here. The American captains at the time in port, after having recommended her proceeding home, refused to survey her any further. Her outfit and other utensils were also sold at auction. Her 40 barrels spirits oil have been shipped on board the consignee's brig Ina, for Philadelphia.

We purchased a firemast for the brig Freeman Goddard for $1,800, and she will be likely to proceed on her voyage next week; 1,300 hhds. were discharged from her.

Cholera is very prevalent in this city, and over 3,000 have died. The Brazilian steamer Marquis de Olinda was totally lost, near Goiana, not far from where the ship Glaucus first went ashore. She is a new iron steamer, on her first voyage, and was built in England. She is supposed to be insured for £30,000 sterling.

MARKET REPORTS.

[illegible]

ASHES—Again dull and nominally at 6 [illegible] ₩ lb. Pearls, at 6 [illegible] ₩ lb.

BREADSTUFFS—Wheat [illegible] Southern, Yellow [illegible]

CANDLES—Are nominally unchanged.

COFFEE—Remains quiet and firm, with sales, in lots of only about 500 bags, Java at 14½c.@14¾c., 700 bags Rio at 11¾c.@12c.; for Turpentine at 12c.@12½c. 300 Maracaibo, Cumbersome and to-day, at 11¾c.@11¾c., and some St. Domingo at 8¾c.@8½c. ₩ lb. Advices reporting from Rotterdam, of the 5th inst., state that the Dutch Government intends to sell on the 21st inst., 7000 bags, offered only at a reduction of fully one cent. We hear the previous valuation.

COPPER—Is moderately inquired for and is firm.

COTTON—Appears to have been somewhat more inquired for, at the previous prices. The sales since our last have been confined to about 1,400 bales at 11c.@11¼c. for sixes inclusive and middlings, 11¼c.@11½c. for Orleans do., and proportionate rates for other grades, ₩ lb.

FISH—The market is generally heavy and inactive. The supplies are more extensive, while the demand is most of a kind, as only pressing wants are being provided for. Prices favor purchasers.

FLOUR AND MEAL—The market for State and Western Flour exhibits considerable activity and firmness. The home demand is good, while there prevails a moderate export and speculative inquiry. The arrivals are not very large, and owners are unwilling to press their supplies on buyers. Prices are stronger and advancing. The sales, since our last, consist of about 9,000 barrels, in lots, mainly at prices within the annexed range:

Superfine No. 2	$8 37½@ $ 12½
Ordinary State	$ 12½@ $ 12½
Straight State	$ 12½@ $ 12½
Favorite and Extra State	$ 12½@ $ 12½
Common to good Michigan	$ 12½@ $ 12½
Common to Good Indiana and Upper Lake	$ 12½@ $ 12½
Common to Good Ohio	$ 12½@ $ 12½
Fancy Michigan	$ 12½@ $ 12½
Fancy Ohio	$ 12½@ $ 12½
Extra Michigan	$ 12½@ $ 12½
Extra Indiana and Wisconsin	$ 12½@ $ 12½
Extra Ohio	$ 12½@ $ 12½
Fancy Genesee	$ 12½@ $ 12½
Extra Genesee	$ 12½@ $ 12½
Extra Missouri	$ 12½@ $ 12½

Canadian is in fair demand at strengthening prices, with sales since our last, having been confined to about 1,000 bbls. Superfine to best Extra at $8 37½@$9 ₩ bbl. Southern, is also improving. The sales since our last represent to 1,000 bbls. Mixed to best Extra at $8 37½@$9 ₩ bbl. Rye Flour is plenty and freely bought, at $5 37½@$5 75 for Fine and Superfine ₩ bbl. Corn Meal is selling to a fair extent at $3 87½@$3 12½ for Jersey, $3 37½ for Baltimore, and $3 25@$3 50½ for Brandywine, ₩ bbl. Buckwheat Flour is dull and nominal.

FRUIT—The market remains quiet, with moderate supplies, and essentially unchanged prices. Raisins bring, in lots, $2 50 for layer, and $2 75 for bunch, ₩ box.

GRAIN—Wheat is very quiet, the scanty stock of desirable parcels and the conflicting views of parties in relation to prices, impeding operations. Rye is in rather better request, at strengthening rates. The sales since our last add up nearly 12,000 bushels, at 91c. for Pennsylvania, and 86c.@86c. for Northern, ₩ bushel. Barley is scarce and stiffly held, but it is inactive. Oats are abundant and languid, at 36c.@41c. for State, 40c.@41c. for Ohio, and 44c.@47c. for Lake, ₩ bushel. Corn is pretty actively sought after at firm prices, the sales since our last comprising about 36,000 bushels Mixed, Yellow and White Southern, at 81c.@86c. ₩ bushel.

HAY—River is obtainable at from $1½c.@$1 for shipment, and $1@$1 25 for local use, ₩ 100 lbs. The demand is not active.

HEMP—The market is without improvement in any respect.

HIDES—Are slightly dealt in at old rates. The stock is increasing, and parties disagree about prices. These circumstances retard business.

HOPS—Some 40 bales have been sold mostly at 7c.@9c. ₩ lb.

IRON—We heard that 100 tons Scotch Pig were procured at $24 75@$25, cash terms, ₩ ton.

LATHS—Unaltered.

LEAD—Remains quiet at former quotations.

LEATHER—With light supplies and a moderate inquiry, prices are steady. The whole continues uniform in value. Nothing new in other kinds.

LIME—Is salable and steady at yesterday's prices.

MOLASSES—There have been 400 bbls. New-Orleans purchased at 45c.@47c. ₩ gallon.

NAVAL STORES—Turpentine attracts more attention and is now pretty firm, mainly at $3 12½ ₩ 280 lbs. Spirits do. is also in improved demand, and is worth 36½c.@38c. ₩ gallon. Tar is dull and heavy at from $2 62½@$2 75 per bbl. Rosin is in fair request, and is procurable at of 70@$1 75 for common, ₩ 310 lbs., delivered, and $3 50@$4 50 for No. 1 white ₩ 280 lbs. Pitch is inactive and somewhat nominal.

REVIEW OF THE WILLIAMSBURG MARKET.—(For the week ending April 18.) TUESDAY.—The receipts of this article since our last have been pretty large, and prices have ruled firm, with a decline on Monday of 5c. ₩ lb. for Hard. Transactions for the week foot up 7,400 bbls.; very little on market. SPIRITS—There has been scarcely anything doing in this article, during the week, and the market has ruled dull, with a decline of 1c. ₩ gallon. Sales for the week reach only 2,000 gallons. RAGS—We note the sale during the week of 1,000 bbls. Nos. 1 and 2, at $1 62 ₩ bbl. In Common there has been considerable activity, and we note an advance of 10c.@15c. ₩ bbl., with sales of 11,800 bbls.; sales Monday, No. 1, at $1 50 per bbl., and of 11 do. Inferior No. 1, at $1 37 ₩ bbl. RAGS—Has ruled firm in prices, with fair receipts, and we have no change to notice. Sales for the week foot up 5,377 bbls.; sales yesterday, at $1 40 ₩ bbl.

OILS—Whale, Sperm, and Olive remain as last noticed. Linseed is selling from store mainly at 77c.@78c. ₩ gallon. It is but sparingly sought after. Lard Oil can still be had at from 65c.@68c. ₩ gallon, but it is very lightly dealt in.

PROVISIONS—Pork is much weaker and is decidedly heavier, sales having transpired to-day, of nearly 2,000 bbls., in lots, $17 62½@$17 75 for Mess, which comprehend the bulk of the sales; and at $15 75 for Prime. Beef is dull. There has been a fair Western demand for Mess, and considerable at $14@$14 for Mess, and to $17½c. for shoulders, ₩ lb. Bacon is in light supply and firm. Sales [illegible]

SPRING AND SUMMER DRY GOODS.
F. DERBY & CO., Merchant Tailors and Importers, No. 13 Park-place, received by the steamers Baltic and Washington valuable invoices of Spring and Summer goods for gentlemen's wear, many of which are the confined styles and selections of the eminent makers and designers. Messrs. Barlow, Payne & Co., Coleman-st., London, combining the useful and the beautiful. The goods from this house are too well known to need advertisement; they have taken the lead of all others for the last ten years. Every variety in style, taste and make of clothing and furnishing goods, can always be seen at No. 13 Park-place.

INDIA-RUBBER PIANO COVERS.—The superior advantages the India-Rubber Piano Covers possess over all others are too well known to render any enumeration of them necessary. Dealers in Pianos, and others will do well to examine, before purchasing elsewhere, my stock, of my own manufacture, consisting of assorted sizes, and new and beautiful patterns, with which they cannot fail to be suited, both in regard to price and quality. D. HODGMAN, Warehouse No. 27 Maiden-lane, corner Nassau-st.

SPRING AND SUMMER WEAR.—The Pioneer Establishment, devoted to the sale of exclusively first-quality Ready-Made Garments, in this, its 25d year, is stocked in the Retail Department with reasonable goods of such styles as will justify an emphatic assertion for determination to retain the precedence heretofore given to our productions. [illegible] principle that the States have power [illegible] authorities, in consequence of the unconstitutionality of some of the provisions.

It seems clear enough that those provisions of the act which punish drunkenness are not affected by the decision of the Court of Appeals; and that they are, therefore, still in force. Nor is it clear that the section prohibiting the granting of any license, is annulled;—for it is entirely independent of the prohibitory clause, and is not, therefore, affected by its unconstitutionality. The provisions of the Revised Statutes, moreover, as cited above, which prohibit the sale of liquor in any quantity less than five gallons, and the sale of any liquor to be drank on the premises, are not in any respect inconsistent with the act of 1855. They are not, therefore, repealed by it, and are still valid.

If this view of the case is correct and those sections are still in force, we have what is nearly equivalent to a Prohibitory law still upon the Statute book. The sections quoted above from the Revised Statutes forbid the sale of liquor in quantities less than five gallons,—or to be drank on the premises, without a license;—and section 25 of the Prohibitory Law of 1855 forbids the granting of any license. To all practical intents this is an effectual prohibition of the sale of liquor in small quantities;—and if enforced by the Courts of law, will break up all the grog-shops in the State, except those in the City of New-York, which, by section 45 of the chapter of the Revised Statutes relating to this subject, is specially excepted from its provisions. This City, therefore, is under a special law passed in 1853.

We understand that steps are in progress in Buffalo to have this question tested. It is certainly a matter of great importance, not only to liquor dealers, but to the community at large, to have it clearly understood what are the legal provisions by which the traffic in intoxicating liquors is to be hereafter regulated.

The State Assembly.

Mr. E. MERIAM, who is still exploring among the ruins of legislation at Albany, writes to the Courier and Enquirer as follows:

"Our citizens have reason to rejoice in the firmness and independence of the members of Assembly, in refusing to prolong the session, for by this prompt measure of adjourning, near seven hundred Legislative Bills are among the ruins—the very best disposition which could be made of many of them."

Mr. MERIAM is entitled to the credit of being the first to say a syllable in defence of the Assembly. He invents an excuse for them which they would not only repudiate, but which Mr. M. himself must know is pure fiction. Those members of the Assembly who forced an adjournment,—who refused even to prolong the session four hours,—who denied a respectful request from the Senate that they would return the Appropriation Bill, that it might be passed,—and who talked out the last hours of the session, for fear bills of public importance might be enacted,—did all this, not with any intent to defeat bad legislation, but in order to force the Governor to call an extra session. The purpose was openly avowed by the leaders in this shameless and most unprincipled conspiracy. And their object, in forcing an extra session, was to procure new opportunities of selling their votes for those very measures of bad legislation which Mr. MERIAM so justly denounces. Their "firmness and independence" consisted in this,—that they were determined to stop the wheels of Government, to deprive the State charitable institutions of their means of support, and to throw overboard every public interest, in order to fill their own pockets. It was an open struggle between shameless venality and official duty; and venality won the day.

It is not creditable to Mr. MERIAM's sagacity, or to his sense of justice, that he should thus invent and urge excuses for a set of men so utterly faithless to important public trusts. He must know that the leaders in this disorganizing movement have exacted payment as the condition of their support to measures before the Legislature, throughout the session. He must know that one of the most prominent members of the Assembly,—a member of one of its most important Committees,—was paid for reporting favorably upon a measure which Mr. MERIAM has repeatedly and justly denounced. It was not with a view to defeating bad bills, but for the purpose of getting paid for supporting them, that these men forced an adjournment.

☞ The Syracuse Journal nominates Gen. GRANGER, Member of Congress from that district, for Governor, upon the strength of his recent speech on the question of Slavery;—and we have a note from a Correspondent urging his nomination for Vice-President, upon the same grounds. The General's speech was certainly bold and strong; but we do not believe its sentiments will be adopted by the Republican party, or by any considerable portion of the people, in this State or throughout the North. It is, of course, the cue of the Pro-Slavery press to identify the Republican movement with Abolitionism, and to charge upon the former all the ultra opinions and radical projects of the latter.

Gen. GRANGER's speech, which embodied in the main the sentiments of the GERRIT SMITH school of Abolitionists, is represented by these organs as an exposition of Republican principles. But it will not be so accepted by the Republicans, and we are confident Gen. GRANGER himself would be the first to disavow any such responsibility. He expressed his own opinions upon his own behalf. The Republican party has defined its position, and proclaimed the political objects which it seeks to accomplish in the way such declarations are usually made,—by an address and resolutions adopted in National Convention. Neither in that, nor in any other declaration, is there the slightest ground for attributing to the Republican Party any purpose of hostility to Slavery as it exists in the Southern States. On the contrary, that party takes its position upon the principle of State Rights, and denies the authority of the Federal Government either to interfere with Slavery in the States where it exists, or to use its power for its extension into new territory [illegible] Congress, [illegible] a local affair,—the creature of local laws; and it insists that it shall be left by the General Government to its control. It finds no warrant in the Constitution, either for interference with Slavery in the Southern States, or for its extension and perpetuation by the General Government. In all its principles and purposes it is thoroughly conservative: and there is no justice or fairness in any of the attempts made by its enemies, to identify it with Abolitionism, or, to hold it, as a party, responsible for the sentiments and opinions of individuals.

Academy of Music.

Another splendid house assembled last night to witness the final performance of VERDI's "Trovatore," an opera which appears to have won in the most complete manner the sympathies of a New-York audience. The only novelty in the performance was the substitution (at very short notice) of Signor BOLDONI for Signor BERNOLDI, who, in consequence of an accident, was unable to appear. It is always an ungrateful task to follow in another artist's footsteps, particularly where a success has been achieved. Much credit, therefore, is due to Mr. BOLDONI for having undertaken the heavy role of Manrico, and a good deal of allowance has to be made for shortcomings. Insufficient study produces nervousness, and nervousness leads to false intonation—the especial defect noticeable in last night's performance.

There was much promise, however, in Signor BOLDONI's performance, and it is more than probable that, with more confidence and ease in the part, he could lead us to forget some agreeable antecedents.

Mad. LA GRANGE was, as usual, excellent, and the other artists good, except AMODIO, who seemed to be laboring under a corpulent kind of hoarseness.

Concert.

Mr. BASSFORD gave his second piano-forte soirée last evening, at Dodworth's Rooms. The selection was better than on the first soirée, and gave greater satisfaction to the audience.

Delaware.

A large and enthusiastic Republican meeting was held at Wilmington, Delaware, on the 6th inst., which was addressed by Senator WILSON, of Massachusetts. The resolutions adopted assert that hostility to the extension of Slavery is not a new sentiment in that State, and cite a declaration, adopted in 1847 by the Legislature, requesting their Senators and Representatives in Congress "to vote against the annexation of any new territory which shall not thereafter be forever free from Slavery."

CLASSIS OF NEW-BRUNSWICK.—The annual meeting of the Classis of New-Brunswick was held at Boundbrook, N. J., on Tuesday. The sermon was preached by Rev. WM. BAUM of Bedminster. The reports from the churches were encouraging. Rev. JOHN N. SHULTS, of Michigan, made interesting statements in relation to the churches in that State.

NEW-YORK CITY.

The New Endowment of Yale College.

The numerous graduates of Yale College, who read the TIMES, will be interested to know what success has attended the attempt to raise, by subscription, a fund of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS, for the further endowment of that institution. The One Hundred Thousand Dollars necessary to bind the subscriptions have already been secured, and about fifteen thousand dollars in addition. Rev. WILLIAM J. BOZEN, of New-Haven, is still engaged in endeavoring to raise the balance of the contemplated fund.

The one hundred thousand dollars alluded to is geographically distributed as follows: Connecticut has given $66,016—of which New-Haven has given $40,509; Waterbury, $7,615; Norwich, $2,225; Hartford, $1,219; North Britain, $1,110; Watertown, $1,000; Kent, $750; New-London, $750; Middletown, $700; Lyme, $100; Jewett City, $50.

New-York has given $28,240, of which the Cities of New-York and Brooklyn gave $27,240, and Poughkeepsie gave $1,000.

Massachusetts has given $9,800, of which Boston gave $2,800, and the town of Enfield $500.

Philadelphia, Pa., has given $400.

Newark, N. J., $500. In Paris, France, $1,000 was subscribed, and also $1,000 in Canton, China.

The total amount of these donations is $100,640, more than one-half of which has been given in the State of Connecticut, and more than one-third in the Cities of New-York and Brooklyn.

Twenty-three years ago a similar appeal was made to the graduates and friends of Yale College, which was answered by a contribution of $100,000 to its permanent funds. The natural growth of the College and the increasing demands of education at the present day, have made it necessary again to enlarge the permanent funds of the College to enable it to maintain its rank as a first-class academic institution. But we learn that the proposed conditions of this subscription have been deviated from in such a variety of ways, that the funds of the College for general purposes will not be so much augmented as its friends may suppose. One subscription of $7,000 is not payable until the death of the subscriber. Several thousand dollars have been subscribed for specific "scholarships," which do not really increase the available funds of the College. Large amounts have been so given, that they can be used only for particular purposes—as for the benefit of the Theological School, for the purchase of books in Agricultural Chemistry, and in various departments of the arts and sciences.

It has been evident that many wealthy men, generally those who have not enjoyed collegiate educations and particularly those who are engaged in practical occupations, would contribute more readily to a school of theoretical and practical science, than to the academic department of a college. Such a scientific school was projected in New-Haven some years ago, and it is determined now to place it upon a permanent basis, if possible. We are informed that several of the prominent agriculturists and practical men of Connecticut met in New-Haven, a few days since, to agitate this measure, and that they expressed their cooperation in the heartiest manner. We understand that an attempt will be made to raise a permanent fund for this specific purpose, under the management of Mr. DANIEL C. GILMAN, of Yale College. As this fund is not for the academic purposes of the College, the appeal for donations will not be made to any persons who have already contributed to the general funds of the institution.

Policeman Linn gets his Back Pay, and the City an Experienced Officer.

The power that manages the Police of this City, and keeps the Department pure and undefiled from politics, swore in on Thursday morning 20 new policemen. Most of them were imported from the Old Country, and have had experience of foreign travel and habits. Indeed, it should console us to know that, however stupid, sleepy or useless our Policemen are, the majority of them have traveled abroad and are well up in foreign tongues.

One of the 20 just appointed is DANIEL LINN, Esq., who has the additional merit of being an actor in history. Mr. LINN is not an Irishman himself, but he is just as good a Democrat for all that, and has rendered good service to the strongest party before now at primary elections. When BILL POOLE was murdered, Mr. LINN gave his word of honor, and $5,000 to bind it, that he would be on hand whenever the Courts would like to talk over the matter, and learn what hand he had in the enterprising affair. Mr. LINN was a policeman at the time; but, in consideration of his supposed services, was permitted to lay off from duty, and from pay, too, for about a year. The public had a notion that Mr. LINN ought to be put upon trial by the Police Commissioners; but that charitable Board, after a great many "false motions," thought they wouldn't do it. This reappointment gives Mr. LINN all his back pay—over which and his restitution to favor every citizen, who thinks that murdering BILL POOLE was a good thing, must rejoice. We don't know that we can say that the country is any safer, but we presume Mayor WOOD thinks his chances are.

A Trembling Brother.

Staten Island must be an awful place to live. The Editor of the Staten Islander—quite an innocent man—says that he is constantly apprehensive of an attack from "ruffians." Among the men that he says, he names one whom we take to be a sort of [illegible] other Outlyed Island, and, he [illegible] with Mayor Wood, [illegible] Tammany and Tammany [illegible]. Why does not the apprehensive editor get a permit from the Hornby judge to wear the "kicking book" which was specially designed for the use of Editors in outlandish, ruffian-infested districts? With a pair of them on he need never feel afraid any time before 9 o'clock in the evening.

Letter from Mr. Hoggins.

Speaking of the Filibusters yesterday, we stated on the authority of Mayor KALB, though he did not name our authority, that some of the witnesses against the Filibusters were likely to turn up missing when the trial came on. Some of them have convinced us that a smart officer could easily enough find them. Mr. HOGGINS visited us in person, and with a clear, emphatic voice, announced that he was not "lying in the Tombs," having been discharged "on his word of honor." His book-keeper, too, Mr. BARCMORE, called to show us that he "could be found." Mr. HOGGINS has favored us still more by a letter, whose modesty, gentleness and coherence are worthy of distinguished consideration:

50 FRANKLIN-STREET, N. Y., 16 April, 1856.

MR. EDITOR—I have perused with infinite amusement your statement in your journal this day's date.

I am not in jail for "false pretences" but am free! Captain KNOX I can find upon 24 hours' notice. All the witnesses mentioned in your edition of this date can be found "if District-Attorney McKeon wishes it." Suffice it to say to any man connected with "Walker Government" must fail.

They are, without exception, the greatest blackguards ever allowed to exist.

Should you wish for the proofs, I am ever the same,

Yours, R. HOGGINS.

P. S.—If Mr. LAWRENCE of the St. Charles at whose house I was nearly murdered wishes for a correspondence I can oblige him.

City Schools.

LEAKE AND WATTS ORPHAN HOUSE.

The recent examination of the pupils of the LEAKE and WATTS Orphan Asylum, indicate a flourishing condition of affairs in that excellent Institution. The premises are cleanly and the children apt in learning. The Orphan House is situated on One-Hundred-and-Twelfth-street, near Eighth-avenue, and accommodates 300 children. It is the custom of the Schools of the Male and Female Departments, to interchange visits, for the purpose of witnessing the improvement in study, and to hear compositions and declamations. Such lads as excel in study are promoted to the high class, known as Section A, and this year's list enrolls the following names: Lewis Walker, George Corey, Wm. Callender, Jas. Harper, Edward Taylor, Simeon Lamberson, Wm. Jewett, Louis Fitzsimmons, Henry Thompson, Wm. Brookman, Chas. Carrick, Jno. Hunter, Henry Guest, John Mullighan and Edward O'Brien.

☞ The Thirty-sixth Annual Examination of the Mechanics' Society School takes place next week.

German School Concert.

The girls and boys of the Seventh Ward German School, Number 1, gave a Grand Concert, under the direction of GEORGE W. PETTIT, last evening, in the Church at the corner of Gouverneur and Madison streets. The girls, under the care of their Principal, Miss FRANCES A. WESTERVELT, and Vice-Principal, Miss E. WOOD, were dressed in white and arranged on the right of the stage; the boys, under their Principal, Mr. H. KUPPER, occupied a similar position on the left. Commissioner WEBB (who has been particularly active in getting up this Concert) and DESVIGNE, and most of the Ward officers were seated in the centre of the stage. The house was crowded full.

The proceeds amounted to $[illegible]—$[illegible] of which will be applied to the purchase of a piano for the girls' department of No. 2.

The programme consisted of choruses, duets, solos, &c.; an original address "To a Fire Company," by Master BENJAMIN H. COWE; a recitation by ALFRED HAINES; and compositions by Misses MARIA ROMER, MARION ELVINS and MARY LOUBY. Recitations were given by JAMES STOMBERS and E. G. GRANVILLE. All these were much applauded.

The best composition was one called "Twilight Hour with Memory," by Miss ROMER. "The Sunset dyed in The Warrior Pass," was sung twice by Master HAINES and Miss MARY LOUBY. Misses M. ELVINS and E. BROMBACHER, and Masters J. STOMBERS and W. H. THOMPSON did especially well. There are over thirty schools now preparing to give similar concerts to raise the means to procure pianos. More than fifty have been given, and not one has proved a failure. Success to the girls every time they try it.

☞ Ex-President MARTIN VAN BUREN was present over two hours yesterday in the United States Circuit Court, listening to the argument in the George Law and Sloo case. He looked hale and hearty, and seemed to appreciate the sharp passages between the contesting counsel. He leaves the City to-day for Kinderhook.

☞ Lovers of the weed complain bitterly of the price and poor quality of the tobacco and cigars which are retailed in the City at present. It is almost impossible to obtain the luxury now at six cents which could formerly be purchased very readily at three and four.

☞ The Union Bank in Wall-street is about to be removed temporarily to apartments in the Merchants' Exchange. The building which it at present occupies is to be torn down to make room for a nobler edifice, in which the Bank will be afterwards permanently located.

☞ They are taking out the rock on the Sixth-avenue above Forty-fourth-street, and will probably lay the iron rails to Forty-ninth-street soon.

☞ The venerable Dr. SPRING, notwithstanding the partial loss of his sight by cataract, preaches regularly every Sabbath.

☞ They are preparing to have all the oakum for the use of the Navy Yard, Brooklyn, picked by steam.

☞ Mr. THACKERAY is expected to return to England about the middle of May.

City Republicans.

FIFTEENTH WARD.

The Fifteenth Ward Republican Club met last evening at No. 61 West Thirteenth-street. Some of the best citizens of the Ward were present. After some arrangements had been made in regard to a regular place of meeting, to be open nightly, the Committee on a Platform and Re-laws reported. The report consisted of the true-blue Republican Platform, and a series of suitable laws for the organization of the Club. The election of permanent officers was then proceeded with. The following were chosen:

President—John J. Townsend.
Vice-President—George W. Blunt.
Secretary—Charles Chesney.
Treasurer—Thomas King.

After the transaction of some other business, the following gentlemen were elected as delegates to the Central Committee: Erastus C. Benedict, William H. Anthon, Thomas C. Acton, Franklin B. Garrison, J. Lee Taylor.

Credentials for the delegates having been drawn up and signed by the officers, the Club adjourned to meet at the call of its President.

EIGHTEENTH WARD.

There was a meeting of Republicans at the O'Donnell House, Eighteenth Ward, last evening, on the call of Wm. H. Adams, Chairman. There is another Republican Club in the Ward, which is just organizing upon the call of Moses H. Grinnell and others. When the soil is very rich and the seed has been put in plentifully, they often find, "up to Wetherafield," that two onions grow where one would be better. The almanacs advise, on such points, to pull up the weakest one, when you can find which it is.

John-Street Methodist Episcopal Church.

It appears that certain legal impediments have prevented the confirmation of the former award made by Rev. Bishop SIMPSON, in the controversy relating to the sale and removal of the above named church; and that the parties lately re-submitted the whole matter to the Bishop for a new award, under an order of the Court. The Bishop, in this state of the case, was obliged to meet the question of whether the property should be sold or not; and has accordingly made a new decision in favor of the sale. The result, it is understood, will insure the speedy erection of a new church, in the upper part of the City, near Madison-square, in the vicinity of which a number of the former worshippers in John-street, as well as many other Methodist families, reside; and who, we understand, have long desired the erection of a Methodist church in that locality. We understand that the trustees now offer the property in John-street for sale. It comprises a plot on the South side of John-street, between William and Nassau, of forty-two feet wide, by about eighty-three or eighty-four feet deep.—Commercial Advertiser.

The Bark Demerara Raised.

The brig Demerara, which was sunk in the bay between Bedloe's and Governor's Islands, has been raised by one of the Bishop hoon derricks, and taken into the Atlantic basin, where her cargo was discharged, and where the vessel and cargo will both be sold at auction. This vessel was sunk in so deep water and muddy a bottom, as to render the job of raising her one of the most difficult of the kind that has ever been performed. The water was 71 feet in depth, and the hatfull of the vessel was embedded 15 feet under the mud. The brig was of two hundred tons burthen, which, with the pressure of the water at so great a depth, cannot be lifting strain to be equal to about 600 tons. During the operation four two-inch chain cables were parted at one time. These were larger than any of the cables except one, which were used in raising the ship Joseph Walker, that was sunk in the slip at the foot of Dover-street, and but partially submerged.

Committee on Piers and Wharves.

This Committee of the Board of Councilmen met yesterday, but no evidence was taken. The slips at Morton, Vesey, and Duane streets having been presented as filled with mud, the ground being here at low water where there ought to be a depth of from 6 to 15 feet, the Committee agreed to report as to the propriety of having these places properly dredged. The East River has been dredged from South Ferry to Fulton Ferry—an operation which required to be repeated every two or three years. We understand that the Comptroller had to pay last year, or to deduct from rent, no less than $[illegible], on account of obstructions, from slips on North River not being properly dredged, or being out of repair.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

Since the introduction of my Schnapps Aromatic Schnapps into the United States, a number of Liquor Houses in New-York, Boston and Philadelphia have been engaged in putting up mixed and poisonous Gin, in green boxes and jugs, and to be palmed off upon the unwary for my genuine Schnapps. I have directed my agents to institute legal proceedings against all persons whom they may ascertain to be engaged in this most atrocious system of deception, and I call on the press and the public to aid them in their efforts to remedy so great an evil.

I wish the public to understand, the Schnapps is not sold by the gallon or pipe. It is only sold in quart and pint bottles, in cases of one dozen quarts and two dozen pints, each bottle enveloped in yellow paper, with my name on the bottle, and a fac simile of my signature on the label. For sale at all the respectable Druggists' and Grocers'.

UDOLPHO WOLFE,
Sole Importer and Manufacturer,
Depot Nos. 18, 20 and 22 Beaver-st., New-York.

☞ BRANDRETH'S PILLS have been long used and are yet increasing the sphere of their usefulness. I saw a young man to-day, that they had cured of a white swelling of the knee, and when everything had failed. The doctors said nothing would save his life but amputation. He is now in excellent health. They purify the blood, and by this one quality, they are the best medicine to be used in all cases of pain or weakness, all depending for their continuance on impure blood. A gentleman called upon me lately, and stated they cured him of a dropsy when he was given up to die by his physicians. Let the sick use them. Some important facts relative to their curative qualities will be shortly published. Sold at 25 cents at No. 48 Canal-st., Brandreth Building.

A PERFUMED BREATH.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath when by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as dentifrice would not only render it sweet, but keep the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate their friends will never mention it. Four a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty-cent bottle will last a year. For sale by FERRIDGE & Co., and all druggists.

☞ The April number of Dr. HUNTER'S Medical Specialist is still more interesting than usual. It proves from the records of the City Inspector that within two years the number of deaths from Consumption in New-York has steadily diminished thirty-one per cent. The editor says: "We now come to lay before the public no isolated cases of cure, as heretofore, but the official returns of hundreds."

The Specialist should be read by every one, and may be obtained at the publishers, SHERMAN & CO., Astor House, (No. 1 Vesey-st.,) New-York.

Landlord and Tenant.

To the Editor of the Daily News:

SIR,—I have read with some care the editorial article in the Daily News of this date, headed "A few words on Personalities," and I desire respectfully to take issue with you on two propositions contained in that article, if I have construed it correctly.

1st.—I respectfully deny that "if Judge GIDEON said that my client (a tenant) has practically any remedy in New-York, or 'elsewhere,' unless 'elsewhere' embraces the 'Press,'" I challenge proof to the contrary from all the Landlords in New-York.

2d.—I dissent from the other proposition in your article that it is no part of the mission of the Press to bring the Judiciary up to public condemnation (when wrong.) I cannot think such was your meaning.

"Lord COKE" was always the friend of the people against the arbitrary decrees of those in authority.

If I succeed in awakening public attention to the enormity of the fees daily wrung by "Judges" from the poor in Landlord and Tenant cases, and the wrongs they are daily subjected to, and their utter helplessness in the premises, in consequence of a system of special legislation by interested parties "authority" my object will be accomplished. I think I shall succeed. Tenants are rarely represented in Legislatures.

Upon reflection I must coincide with you, that in exposing public abuses personalities had better be avoided, (though there are times when it is almost, if not quite, impossible) and I desire to add, that towards Hon. JAMES GREEN, my personal feelings are friendly.

Your humble servant,
JOSEPH SEEGK, Att'y and Counsellor.

FRIDAY, April 18—P. M.

The changes in Wall-street affairs to-day were not important. The official Stock list shows a large business at the Brokers' Board, in both bonds and shares, but the opposition to a further advance in prices, from the Bear interest—much the stronger of the two parties inside the Board at present—is such as to neutralize, for the moment, the influence of the Peace in Europe. Two or three of the Western Road Stocks are the only Securities for which the Bulls had much advantage to-day; Southern Michigan reached 93, and Toledo 81 ex dividend, equal to 85. Rock Island has fallen back to 93½. Erie, New-York Central, Panama, Reading, Illinois Centrals and Missouris are actively dealt in, with only fractional variations, and closed steady. Some sales of the new Second Mortgage of the Harlem Road have been made as high as 76½, and the loan is being gradually distributed to third hands. The general market closed without animation. The last price of Erie, 56⅝; Illinois Centrals, 87⅝; New-York Central, 91⅝. A rumor of renewed trouble about adjusting the fares on the two rival New-York Roads has been urged for a day or two against both stocks. The story has probably grown out of the adjustment of the Water-st. [illegible] which takes the place of the [illegible] of the Harlem Road.

We make no alteration from yesterday in our Money report. Demand loans are active at 7 [illegible] cent. among the Stock people, but the merchants and the domestic exchange brokers report a liberal supply of means at this rate. The Bank offerings, in the regular way, are barely equal to the income in April. For the Bremen steamer Washington, sailing to-morrow, the business in Foreign Bills is moderate at 109¾@¾ on London; 5.17½ on Paris. The engagements of bullion are thus far inconsiderable, though some additions may be made to the shipments in the morning. The Sub-Treasury received to-day $184,794, and disbursed $184,711, including $35,000 California drafts.

The Money Circulars.

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times:

In looking over the Circulars, per steamer Asia, of Messrs. CAMMANN & Co., DE COPPET & Co., and MARIE & KANE, to their European correspondents, I perceive that they make no mention of the receipts of the New-York and Erie Railroad Co. for the month of March. Is it not a little singular that each of these firms should entirely forget to note the decrease from the same month of last year, when they are so particular, on the other hand, to chronicle any increase? Sugar Mart at New-Orleans.

The Louisiana sugar planters have, in convention, taken steps for the establishment of an extensive sugar mart at New-Orleans. It is proposed to purchase the ground between Bienville and Jackson streets in that city, which ground, exclusive of the platforms connected with the wharves, and the space occupied by the streets crossing the Levee, is 1,920 feet long, with an average width of 600 feet, and will afford room for upwards of 20,000 hogsheads of sugar. The cost of the improvements suggested is $165,000@200,000 for a platform to cover the whole area, and $75,000 for a shed with slate roof and iron columns to inclose two-thirds of the ground. It is suggested that if, during twelve months there should be landed these 20,000 hogsheads of sugar and 200,000 barrels of molasses, a tax of ten cents each being levied on the former, and five cents each upon the latter, the mart would yield an annual revenue of $60,000.
